Dieter Langer brings decades of expertise to your walls. After graduating in Visual Communications in 1976, he dedicated himself to setting new trends in textile design. His career flourished at renowned industry leaders such as the prestigious Marburg Wallpaper Factory and other global pioneers in wall coverings.

Having influenced generations and contributed to their well-being on a highly specialized industrial scale, Langer has since returned to his original passion: creating unique works of art. His paintings vividly express his sharpest perceptions of reality while conveying his deepest emotions.

Through his signature use of colors, lines, and 3D effects, Langer invites us on a journey into entirely new visual dimensions. The depth of his designs resonates deeply, touching our hearts. Decades of Experience, Boundless Creativity

Mali is a contemporary paper fiber artist whose innovative, multidimensional works invite reflection and dialogue. Her art delves into themes of identity, nature, the human experience, and sustainability, drawing inspiration from the richness of natural materials and mediums. Using organic materials has an essential role in my work, finding beauty in things that are imperfect, temporary, incomplete and ever-changing.

For Mali, the creative process is an intuitive partnership with nature, where organic shapes and textures emerge naturally. Each piece she creates is unique, guided by the interplay of color, texture, and intuition, embracing the raw beauty of her materials and fueling her ongoing artistic evolution.

Through an abstract, intuitive approach, Mali investigates the potential of her materials, crafting layered compositions and natural textures that tell stories of connection and transformation. Paper, with its dual nature—fragile yet resilient—holds a special place in her practice. By experimenting with its properties, she captures the dynamic and ever-changing beauty of the natural world. Her work incorporates techniques such as paper-making, layering, and painting with natural pigments, all rooted in her commitment to sustainability.

Mali's art has been showcased in exhibitions and fairs across Europe, Asia, and Australia, where her eco-friendly panels bring her guiding philosophy—"When Art Meets Design Meets Nature"—to life. Her pieces represent a harmonious blend of aesthetics, functionality, and environmental consciousness, inviting audiences to explore the interconnectedness of art, design, and the natural world.
